LINCOLNTON, July 6, 1854. Dear Sir: I was with Mr. Brugg at Dallas, and I assure you this part of the West will do its whole duty. Fear not, for the people are with us; and every where the impression made by Bragg is more than favorable, while Dockery is mortifying the in-telligent part of his own party with his disgusting alang and miserable demagogueism. Every Democrat is perfectly delighted, all of them declaring their determination to spread themselves till the evening of the 8d of August; while the Whigs are disheartened, and some of them are openly going for Bragg. Let the grape shot of the Standard come on; let truth be proclaimed on the house tops and in the corners of the streets; let the people see that the Whig party is nationally exploded, and that the Democracy is their only help in time of need, and a glorious victory awaits us!

I will here add a few words relative to the speech of Mr. Bragg at Dallas. There was on the 4th instant a very respectable number of the citizens of Gaston County assembled in the Court House, at Dallas, to hear Mr. Bragg, who had an appointment there for that day. About one o'clock, Mr. Bragg commenced his speech. He pronounced in his opening remarks a most beautiful culogy upon our happy country, and in a chaste and eloquent style alluded to the 4th of July as the birth day of this mighty country. He then for one hour and a half enchained his audience with one of the most clear, argumentative and logical political discourses I have ever had the pleasure of hearing. He showed by facts and arguments conclusive, that the Whig party had now no national existence; that upon the passage of the Nebraska and Kansas bill, the Whig party North had abandoned their political friends in the South, and that they (the Whigs North) had since then coalesced with the abolition party, and were now with the abolitionists waging an open war upon the constitution of the country and the peculiar institution of the South. He triumphantly vindicated President Pierce from the contemptible charge by his opponent and the sordid Whig press, that he had favored freesoilism in his appointments to office; and satisfied all who were not blinded by party that the Democracy of the country, headed by President Pierce, was the only rock of safety upon which the constitution could rest with security; and that the institution of slavery could look in no other direction for assistance and protection against the fanaticism of the North. He showed also, that the Whig party had abandoned all their former issues-that the bank, the tariff, the repeal of the independent Treasury, the abolition of the veto power, once to that party so dear, were now only known as the sorrowful history of the past-all of them have been ostracized; and that there now remained only one single issue, and that only in North Carolina, to wit, "the distribution of the proceeds of the public lands;" and Mr. Bragg showed that this proceeded from one or two reasons, either that the Whig party are now satisfied that they were wrong, or they are satisfied that a majority of the people are opposed to these measures; either of which reasons would be sufficiently conclusive against a party in a government where the people are the sovereigns. Mr. Bragg next took up Free Suffrage. He showed the justice of that measure to a large body of our Democratic party in advocating this important measure; and he showed also the opposition, inconsistency, tergiversation of the Whig party upon it, and satisfied every one that the Democratic party were the only true friends of free suffrage. He next took up internal improvements; he stood upon the Democratic platform; he was a North Carolinian, and desired to see the resources of the State developed, and its prosperity advanced, and that this could only be effected by a judicious system of internal improvement; he was for an extension of the Central Road east and west, and for such other improvements as the necessities of the people may require, so as not to go beyond the resources of the State, or to endanger its faith and credit. Upon this subject he pleased every one, and by his frankness gave the lie direct to the contemptible charge of dodging. He lastly took up the subject of Distribution, the last plank in the once boasted platform of the Whigs, and before he was done with it, if there was any plank there I could not see it. He showed that it was only a humbug to carry the North Carolina elections; that no other State was making it an issue; that it could not be effected, and that the only proper application of the public lands or their proceeds is to the payment of the public debt, and the defraying of the necessary expenses of the Federal Government, and that was the only way that an equal and equitable distribution could be made, and that by so doing the tariff taxes might be taken from the necessaries of life and the people be enabled to purchase them at much lower prices than they are now compelled to pay. I have not time to give you a full account of Mr. Bragg's most excellent speech. He concluded by rallying the Democracy, and the effects of the speech will tell in thunder tones upon the day of GASTON COUNTY.

THE DISCUSSION AT LINCOLNTON

MR. EDITOR: There was a time when the Lincolnton Whigs had some enthusiam for the cause of their espousing. But alas for whiggery! that time has almost gone. Mr. Bragg was treated during his stay here with the greatest cordiality, and must consider himself under obligations to friends and foes for their kindness and attention to him. On the other hand, the General's friends were few and distant; all seemed unwilling to pay him court; and some leading whigs did not so much as attend the Church to hear his ranting thunder. The fact is, Mr. Editor, the well informed Whigs of this place are ashamed of their candidate; and though the most of them will probably give him their votes, they must think with me, that he is only corporcally fitted for filling the Gubernatorial Chair.

But to the discussion. Mr. Bragg took the lead In point of time (as well as in every other respect) and commenced by proving the Whig party to be dead; that it consists now in negroism at the North, and distributional humbuggery at the South; and that as a great national concern, it has wound up its business, or rather had it wound up, and retired .-He then went on the discussion of the usual topics, handling each one with a master's hand, and satisfying all of the truthfulness of his position. On Free Suffrage he was particularly happy, repelling the Whig assertion that they are the true friends of this Democratic measure, and also undeniably demonstrating that the legislative method is the most practicable, convenient, and economical, and is the one preferred by the Convention of 1835. He treated the subject of Internal Improvement corlly, quietly and soberly; not making extravagant declarations, which no one could carry into practice, but evincing in all his words those qualities precisely, which will ere long constitute him one of the best Governors North Carolina has ever had. The bauble Distribution he tossed about with just severity, showing it up in every aspect, holding its deformities to view, and at last burying it beneath the mountain of its own absurdity, so deep that nothing more than its deformed gnost may ever rise to gull the credulous, or tickle the fancy of the avaricious. In all of his bearing among us, Mr. Bragg made an impression the most favorable to himself as a patriot, as a scholar, a gentleman,

Then rose the General, in all the pomposity his own Pharisaical self-importance. He set out by insinuating at the fact, that by a misunderstanding et Mr. Bragg's lodgings, he had been unable to com-mence his speech till twenty or twenty five minutes after the appointed time. He tried to give currency to the false idea that Mr. Bragg's delay was intentional; and said, that he would for lack of time be compelled to omit much important matter, that would otherwise have been presented. He occupied in fact, just two minutes and half more time than Mr. Bragg; and yet I was forced to conclude that he omitted all the important matter and gave us nothing but trivialties and words. Any attempt to follow him in his windings and twistings would be vain.— I will not make one. The suake must twist when thrown on crackling embers. But some things that thrown on crackling embers. But some things that he said in his erratic discourse, the public must and ought to know. There is, as you know, an unfortunate difficulty between the two Candidates, in reference to a reply Mr. Bragg made to Gen. Dockery's speech in Edenton some time ago. Each candidate has a certificate in support of his own statement of the case. These certificates are signed by citizens of Edenton and vicinity, and I would be gratified if this would come to the putice of Mr. Bragg's signthis would come to the notice of Mr. Bragg's sign- E. B. TEAGUE, ers. The majority of these gentlemen are Whigs; some of whom voted for Outlaw; some for Scott, and probably some for both. The General first charged these men with being such Whigs as always voted for Democrats: and then declared that the certificate was just as favorable to Mr. Bragg "as a very smart man could posibly write without telling a lie, and the Whig signers of it were known about Edenton as the Corporals Guard!" I believe that I have here quoted his very words, and if not, I am certain this was his meaning.

In another part of his abusive effort, he was eulogizing his favorite topic, the distribution of the public lands; and having gotten himself up into a kind of ecstacy, he triumphantly asserted that a majority of the freemen of North Carolina, Whigs and Democrats, are in favor of distribution in their hearts, and, that the Democrats are deterred by the leaders from expressing their views; that if President Pierce, Governor Reid, and the Standard should declare themselves in favor of it, the whole Democratic party in North Carolina would say that they were for it from the beginning, and in less than three months would swear to it. Mr. Editor, would an honestman, or a patriotic Whig, or a sensible office-seeker, make use of such lying absurd language as that? Is such a man to be Governor of the Old North State? Can the sturdy, honest sons of North Carolina consent to give their highest office to such an abusive demagogue as Alfred Dockery? Reason answers, No! I have not time to do justice to Mr. Bragg's very able and conclusive reply. It was short, clear and convincing. It told on all who heard it. I do not pretend to be thorough in my account, but have only attempted to give a faint idea of the most prominent points in the discussion at

LINCOLNTON.

We regret that professional engagements rendered our absence from town on Monday necessary. We had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Bragg on Sunday evening, and were glad to learn that his health was much improved, and that he would be able to prosecute the canvass regularly until the campaign is ended. He addressed a goodly number of our citizens in this place on Monday, who were delighted with him; though their expectations were highly raised, he more than realized them. We understand that never did a man get such a skinning as did the redoubtable " tyrant of the sandhills," as Gen. Dockery is familiarly called by his neighbors.

From notes kindly furnished by a friend, we will endeavor for the next issue to write out a full report of the speeches.

We were at Moroe, and were equally gratified to find the impression Mr. Bragg had made in that stronghold of Democracy was most flattering. We are credibly informed that a number of prominent whigs of Union, as well as of Anson and Richmond, will not support Dockery; they know him far too

On Tuesday, the candidates for the Legislature declared themselves; -Messrs. Ashe and Tolson, both Whigs, for the Senate; and Col. Dunn for the Commons. The Whig candidates occupy similar grounds, so far as an avowal of opinions was made. Col. Dunn has repeatedly represented Union and Mecklenburg, and is a staunch and true Demcrat. In his speech declaring himself he briefly discussed the land question-announcing what was the true democratic ground upon this question, and sustained himself by quoting the authority of Jackson, fellow-citizens. He showed the consistency of the Polk, Calhoun and other republican fathers. He made the subject very clear, and his speech was well received. He has no opposition.

Whereupon, Jesse A. Waugh rose and made one of his best speeches, accepting the nomination and pledging himself to carry through the Democratic banner, if the party would stand by their candi-

Allen Flynt then arose, and although not an orator, but a plain old farmer, made a few most excellent remarks, pledging himself as one of the nominees, to use all means as a gentleman, to carry the wishes of his party triumphantly through this campaign, and secure the Democratic ticket.

Several other gentlemen were called upon, who responded in the warmest terms, pledging themselves and calling upon all good Democrats to stand by thier

LOUISBURG COACH FACTORY. MARRIAGES HAVE BECOME SO FASHIONABLE Uthat it has been predicted by some, if war should ever visit our shores again, they would be tested even then, for the purpose of dealing out death into the ranks of our enemy. Whether or not however, I am determined that my establishment shall be well represented in the way of Coaches, four and six passenger Rockaways, taper patent and half patent axle Buggies, with and without tops, and Sulkys of superior finish. My stock at present consists of a general assortment of the above named Vehicles. After having a life-time experience in the business, and keeping no body in my employ but the best workmen the country can afford, I deem it unnecessary to say anything in its behalf, for it requires nothing but a glimpse at it to satisfy any man that it is capable of doing its own puffing.

Persons wanting a Carriage who cannot conveniently come to my establishment, can have it sent to their house for inspection, if desired. Old work will be taken in exchange for new, at reasonable prices.

I also keep on hand HARNESS of all qualities; the principal part of which is put up under my own supervision.

I ask nothing but a trial to insure satisfaction, for my prices will be as moderate as the times will admit of while my work will contribute pleasure to the eye, comfort and ease to the body, and delight to the mind. Repairing of all kinds done with neatness and dispatch. All work warranted.
